Thank you also to all the Artweeks artists themselves and the thousands of members of the public who have made this festival so special.

Our cover this year shows an elegant glass vessel by Anne Arlidge, a well-respected glass artist and a long-time exhibitor with Oxfordshire Artweeks. This piece is from a series of 'Jelly Pots', so-called because they began the colours of jelly beans. Since, however, they have taken on a life of their own with never-ending small variations of shape and colour. You can see these and more during the second week of Artweeks when Anne is exhibiting from her Watlington home (listing 286).

Oxfordshire Artweeks 2022

Welcome to the 40th Oxfordshire Artweeks festival. We're very proud to be celebrating our 40th anniversary, particularly after a challenging two years during the pandemic. To mark the occasion we are delighted to present two special exhibitions which showcase the quality and variety of the art you can see this May (see listings 1 & 2).

From the traditional to the contemporary and multidisciplinary, across the county there's something to delight, intrigue and inspire everyone. Explore painting, sculpture, ceramics and printmaking; look out for fashion and furniture; discover glass art, mosaics and other marvels; and perhaps choose a treasure or two to take home with you.

Within these pages you will find a variety of types of exhibition, all of which are free to visit – simply drop in during their opening hours. Some artists team up to host group shows while others open their studios (look for the OS throughout this guide). All welcome you to both enjoy the art on show and to chat about their materials, methods and inspiration. At most venues, some of which are extraordinary in themselves, you can meet the artist or maker. If you are keen to see a particular person, please call ahead to confirm they will be there when you visit. In some places there are also demonstrations and you'll also find some excellent cake (look for the D and R respectively throughout this guide).

Thank you for supporting Oxfordshire's artist community.

40th

ANNIVERSARY

The idea for an open studios event in Oxford was first mulled over around a kitchen table four decades ago. The first Artweek was held the following spring, a small local event and the first of its kind in the UK. Since then, millions of visitors have enjoyed the friendly welcome of Oxfordshire artists, and now the festival is many times bigger encompassing every corner of the county. Today you'll find both open studios and pop-up galleries in an array of amazing places. The ethos, however, remains the same: artists and makers open their doors and welcome, for free, anyone who would like to see their art, their studios and chat about their work and inspiration. All visitors need is a touch of curiosity.

Pop-up exhibitions are often an easy way to discover the hidden talent of a collection of artists in a single space, whilst a visit to an artist's studio can offer a more in-depth insight into an artist's practice. If a picture tells a thousand words then a studio is an epic adventure!

Entering a studio is like opening a window into an artist's world to see the way they work, their materials, their tools, their processes, sketchbooks and their work in progress. In this almost mythical space the real and the imagined, great ideas and quiet reflection are drawn together with an artist's chosen craft and astonishing skill. Combined they bring forth the marvellous, the unique or the unexpected in a myriad of different ways, on canvas, through a lens, in a design or as an installation.

Explore one-off-venues, city streets and village trails and you'll find beauty, both aesthetically and in the way that art makes us feel or think. Amongst these pages you'll also find multidisciplinary practitioners pushing their creative boundaries to question or even change the world around us and community exhibitions in which participants have used art to work through their own challenges.

Artweeks is about so much more than simply the art, craft and design on show. It is about the 2000 people who have created it and the stories they have to share, and we hope that together Artweeks will continue to foster creativity, in thought and artistic practice in both the artist community and among its visitors for many years to come.

To mark Artweeks 40th year, we are presenting two exhibitions (listings 1&2) in the heart of Oxford that offer a snapshot of the art and craft on show across the county. At the first, in The Jam Factory, kindly sponsored by Wise Investment, you can browse a joyful and colourful exhibition by 100 artists, all of whom are exhibiting more fully elsewhere during the festival. This show continues on-line at www.artweeks.org/latestshow.

The second is a stylish showcase in John Lewis – Oxford, the Westgate Centre. With a focus on 3D work, be surprised by sculpture and hand-crafted furniture over all three floors, elegant glass, and an array of ceramics in their café space.

You will see, in the fourth section of this artist directory, a selection of Oxfordshire artists who are not able to showcase their work physically this year and are presenting their work on-line. If you are unable to get to any venues for real, or you simply appreciate seeing art from the comfort of your own home, there are also hundreds of artist portfolios, on-line exhibitions, virtual art trails and studio tours on our website. You can, for example, take a trip to the coast, marvel at the animal kingdom, venture into the woods, or adventure abroad in all four corners of the county. Alternatively, search for individual artists or browse by artform. You'll also find the very latest pieces by Artweeks artists on social media – please follow us on Facebook and on Instagram search #OxfordshireArtweeks to see what's new every day all year round.

Introducing David Williams

Stone carver David Williams is the winner of the 2022 Artweeks Mary Moser Award, an annual prize established to honour Mary Moser's commitment to Artweeks and to further the career of a professional artist who has taken up their craft as a second career later in life.

David began stone carving about eight years ago when he was given some stone-carving chisels one Christmas. Most of his pieces are inspired by nature, either echoing the shapes he sees or else carved in a stylised way. Recent work has included big sections of sunflowers nearly a metre across in offcuts of Ancaster limestone, sleek tactile owls which have an elegant globular form and gilded pebbles to fit – literally – every pocket.

David has increasingly devoted himself to what started as a hobby and has become a way of life. He now also teaches day-workshops for people who would like to have a go at stone carving.

You can see David's pieces in Cumnor from 7th-15th May (listing 198).

This portrait of David was drawn by artist Sue Side with whom he is exhibiting.
